NEWBERRY ACTIVE

Will Start Drilling for Oil at Earliest Possible Moment.

To the "oil bugs" around Hickman who are just dying to learn something about the local oil boom, it will be interesting to repeat what C. T. Bondurant, local representative and business manager of the big Newberry interests, has to say. To a Courier reporter he remarked: "It is not a question of oil, it is here; but merely a matter of quantity." In other words, paying quantities. The old well at Samburg shows, at a shallow depth, a showing of about 30 barrels a day, but the well was not put down far enough to really ascertain the possible maximum production, nor was it "shot."

He tells us that Mr. Newberry is doing his utmost to get some drilling started, but has been delayed by several matters over which he had no control. However, Mr. Bondurant assures us that drilling will begin next month in earnest, as the difficulties have been practically overcome, and will go down 3500 feet if necessary.

In connection with the Newberry operations two experienced drill and rig men are expected here from Texas in a short time to look after the erection of the derrick and other preparations. Timbers for the derrick have already been gotten out, and will be erected at—wait a minute—not yet, but soon.

This concern, as has been previously mentioned, holds a large number of leases—probably in excess of 100,000 acres—and its operations will constitute the "main show" as regards the present boom. At any rate, they will spend many thousands of dollars in an attempt to develop this field. Mr. Newberry and a party was here last Thursday arranging the local details.

BABY BADLY BURNED

Noon Child Falls in Fire Place; Face Horribly Burned.

The little year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Noonon, of east of Hickman, fell into an open fireplace last Thursday and the little fellow's face was horribly burned. He was taken to the hospital and is now in the hands of the doctors. Although Dr. J. W. Taylor did all he could to alleviate his suffering, the little man has suffered intense pain—agony. The next day his face was so swollen he could not open his eyes. It is not thought the burn will prove fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. Noonon seem to have had more than their share of misfortunes. Last year they lost their 16-year old daughter, Miss Hanna, who was burned to death, and five years ago their eldest son was killed by a horse, which pawed him on the head—now their baby is in a precarious condition. They certainly have the sincere sympathy of their friends.

NARROW ESCAPE

Car Runs Over Little Ernest Johnson, But Did Not Touch Him.

Little Ernest, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Johnson had a narrow escape from death Friday night—when he was run over by a car at the S. M. Naifeh store corner—and escaped with a few cuts about the face.

The little fellow seems to have darted in front of a car driven by Arthur Townsend, stumbled and fell just before the car would have hit him and the machine passed over without touching the little fellow. The bruises about the face he received when he fell. Mr. Townsend was driving slowly, but could not stop in time to avoid the threatened accident. This is the second boy who has run in front of Mr. Townsend's car in the past year, the first lad escaping with slight injuries. Looks like the "jinks" are trailing Arthur, even though he is a very careful driver.

SELLING BOOZE

Judge Evans, Louisville, Renders Decision Favoring "Wets."

Judge Walter Evans in charge of the federal district court in Louisville has rendered some sort of decision which releases whisky. Under this decision it seems that whisky can be sold. At least it is being taken from the warehouses by the owners and offered for sale in job lots. This means, of course, the bootlegger will get a supply for Christmas trade. "Leg liquor, we understand, is being retailed at from $16 to $20 a quart. The adverse decision of Judge Evans has been taken to the Supreme Court.

Officials of the Department of Justice say that until a ruling has been obtained from the Supreme Court they would enforce the law as written, which may bring distillers, wholesalers or retailers, who resume business in the light of local decisions, within the reach of the law. In the meantime, under the ruling of the Louisville Judge, whisky will be sold in all saloon cities, and will find its way into dry territories.

The Reelfoot Dome Oil Co. is now offering to sell stock at $100 per. In their announcement they say they will drill to a depth of 3000 feet.

IN OUR MEAT DEPARTMENT

We carry nothing but the best. It is easy to get a cheap grade of meat, but sometimes hard to get the best, therefore you will sometimes find us out of a certain kind in our shop. We carry (no killed in the horse lot and wagon hauled beef) nothing but what is inspected by the U. S. Government. Cleanliness first—visit your store and shop and judge by conditions what you are eating. This week we offer a full shop and invite you to call any time.

SCHOOL NOTES

By Miss Inez Luten, County Superintendent of Public Schools.

We have not learned the entire amount raised by this county in response to the appeal from the Children's Home Society for aid in building a new home, as some of the money has been sent direct to the home, and some districts set a later date for a campaign. Last week $100.40 was sent in from Sylvan Shade school and community and $45 from Blue Pond. The pupils, teachers and parents from the various districts have shown a fine spirit of enthusiasm and generosity in this cause.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Association is offering prizes to pupils of the various grades from the sixth through the high school, upon designated subjects pertaining to health. The three essays from each grade determined best by the teachers, should be sent to the county superintendent. These will be read by judges, appointed for the purpose, and three from a grade will be sent to the Association headquarters at Louisville to be entered with those from other counties. These essays should be sent to this office by the last of November as they must be in Louisville before December 15th.

We hope that other schools besides Fulton will enter this contest.

Alex Barnes and family have moved into the A. R. Stone residence, recently vacated by Will Bondurant and family.

Herbert Jackson, wife and baby are back from Hales Point, Tenn., and will spend the winter in Hickman.

As a result of the paper shortage, the Fulton Leader has advanced subscription rates.

KILLS SUSPECT

Deputy Sheriff McCain Defends Self in Pistol Duel.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Hiram Wilbanks of Union City was shot and instantly killed by Deputy Sheriff McCain, also of this place. The shooting occurred about 15 miles west of Union City, near Protimus.

Sheriff Hickman, accompanied by his son and two deputies, followed Wilbanks, whom they suspected of bootlegging, into the Reelfoot Lake hills, and waylaid him on his return to town. They blocked the road with their car, got out, and when Wilbanks appeared, ordered him to stop.

Wilbanks opened fire on the Sheriff and attempted to run him down with his car, and succeeded in knocking the sheriff into a ditch. He then fired on Deputy McCain, who returned the fire, his shot taking effect in Wilbanks' chest and killing him instantly.

Wilbanks is a son of J. A. Wilbanks of this place. He was about 40 years of age, and is survived by one son and two daughters.

Kentucky papers continue to give proud mention of big sweet potatoes displayed by home talent, but so far no one has been able to produce a tuber to compare with the seventeen-pounder exhibited at Hickman by Lute Barnes. In the hill from which the monster was taken were two others that totaled five pounds, making twenty-two pounds from one hill. "Who can beat this?"—Louisville Times.

According to old records, 40 years ago a Thanksgiving dinner for five people cost 85c; next Thursday the same dinner will cost $15.86. How can we be thankful?

Fresh sausage Tuesday and Friday—Bettsworth.

Dainty Little Christmas Gifts in Cretonne

By DOROTHY PERKINS

Dainty gifts covered in cretonne are certain to find a welcome in any household, and such a variety of things can be made that you will have no difficulty in filling a want of each one whom you wish to remember on Christmas day.

The unique pair of book ends in Fig. 1 are made of sirup cans. The secret of making satisfactory book ends is to properly weight them so they will not upset, and the book ends illustrated are weighted by filling the cans with sand.

Cretonne with small patterns is the most desirable for small articles, and patterns with dark backgrounds are preferable for articles such as the book ends, which are likely to soil through much handling. Sew a piece of cretonne around the sides of each can, then by means of a gathering string gather the cloth as indicated in Fig. 1. Sew a fancy button, or a cretonne covered button, to the center of the top.

Fig. 2 shows a handy twine holder made of a sirup can. A hole must be pierced through the exact center of the can bottom as an outlet for the string (A, Fig. 3), and holes one-half inch apart must be pierced through the top rim to provide a means of fastening the top edge of the cretonne. The holes can be perforated by means of a nail and hammer. Gather the cretonne on the bottom, and turn the top edge over the rim and sew through the perforations in the rim.

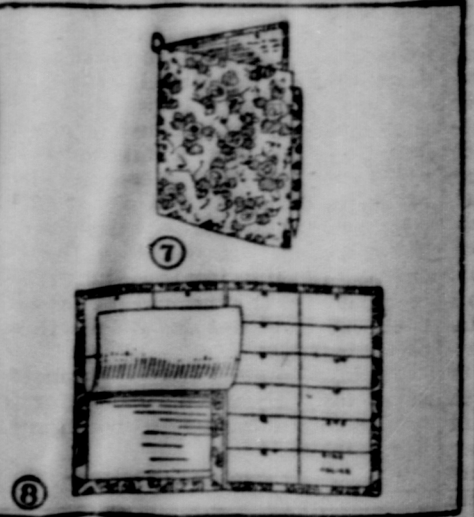

Make a hanger for the twine holder out of cretonne or ribbon.

The hanging workbox in Fig. 4 requires a square cardboard box. Remove two adjacent sides of both the box and cover (Fig. 5), then stitch the cover to the box (Fig. 6). The cretonne may either be stitched over the open edges of the box, or be glued to the cardboard. Sew a doubled strip of cretonne, or a ribbon, to the open corners for a hanger.

The dainty telephone book in Fig. 7 provides a handy directory for numbers used frequently, and numbers which may be wanted quickly in cases of emergency. The covers are of cardboard 6 inches wide and 8 inches long, and are hinged together by the cretonne covering. Lap the cretonne over the edges as indicated in Fig. 8, and glue it to the cardboard, and make a pocket on one edge, to hold a pencil. Cut sheets of writing paper of the right size to extend a trifle over the lapped edges of the cretonne, and glue them in place; then divide the paper into spaces, and index the spaces (Fig. 8). A fancy work ring provides a hanger.

Saving $5 or $10 for You

CLOTHES cost more; can't help it, because labor and materials cost more.

If a maker tries to keep the price down, he has to keep the quality down; that won't do; such clothes won't last; they're a waste of money.

No; we're going to stick to good clothes only; the best; they're always worth what you pay for them; the quality saves; such goods cost you less in the long run.

By selling these clothes on the basis of the prices we paid for the goods months ago we can save $5 or $10 for you. Wholesale prices have gone $5 or $10 higher on each garment; we're giving that to you; you're entitled to it.

The Red Ears

BACON HAD A RELAPSE.

The customer eyed the rashers keenly.
"I tell you, madam," pursued the shopman, "that bacon is as right as you are."
"I say it's bad," persisted the customer.
"How can that be?" he reasoned. "Why, it was only cured last week!"
"Well, all I can say then," she concluded, as she turned away, "is that it must have had a relapse."—London Tit-Bits.

Origin of the Loving Cup.

The origin of the loving cup is hazy. Some investigators have asserted that its beginning was the wassail bowl, belonging to festivities antedating the Christian era, and that on the advent of Christianity the custom of wassailing assumed a religious aspect. The monks called the wassail bowl the "poculum caritatis" (loving cup). The ceremony of drinking from one cup and passing it around was observed at the Jewish paschal supper and on other notable occasions.

Live Near to Others.

Work the mine of your own home. Dig deep into the affection of the wife and little ones. Spend more time in their company. Talk with them more. Read to them and listen while they read. Discuss the world's big questions with them. Precious metal here. And don't be too busy to get better acquainted with the neighbor young folks. The man who lives near to the heart of others, lives long, well and happily.

Smallest Component of Matter.

An electron is the smallest known component of matter. Scientists have weighed and measured electrons, and can even estimate their number. But they haven't seen them. They are too tiny to appear upon the microscope field, although the microscope reveals objects so minute that 125,000,000,000 of them could be crowded into a cubic centimeter.

Sea-Serpent Myth Exploded.

Between 1844 and '46 there were many reports of sea serpents having been seen off the coast of Canada. It happened, however, that a creature described in wonderful terms came ashore in the Orkneys, and some of the bones of the vertebral column were sent to a London scientist. He was able to declare positively that the animal in question was nothing more nor less than a huge shark.

Shopper Advises Patient Clerk She Wanted Only Enough Linoleum to Cover Canary's Cage.

The day was hot, the hour rapidly approaching closing time, and the salesman thoroughly worn out and tired.

Still, he was a good salesman, and the customer before him—a lady faultlessly attired in next year's fashions—had all the appearance of being a really liberal purchaser.

Cheerfully, therefore, he unrolled and re-rolled piece after piece of linoleum for her inspection. But all to no purpose. Nothing, it seemed, could satisfy her hypercritical taste.

"I'm extremely sorry, madam," said the salesman, "but I'm afraid I've shown you all the linoleums I have in stock. Of course, I can get some more up from our factory; and if you care to call again tomorrow—"

"Yes," broke in the customer, "perhaps I'd better leave it at that. You see, I want quite a small design—something suitable for the floor of a canary's cage."

PURITY OF NATURAL ICE

Common Notion That Manufactured Article Is Best Shown to Be Fallacy.

The common remark that natural ice is not so pure as the manufactured kind is somewhat of a fallacy. Practically 99 per cent of all the impurities are cast off by nature in the process of freezing. The remainder of the impurities that are included in the ice die in transportation. Sometimes, of course, even in a healthy flowing stream, nature slips up and a germ does get locked up in an ice crystal, but this is usually the finish of the troublesome germ, for though the cold does not often kill him the fact he can not roam about and search for food brings on starvation. Some germs die quickly, others live a week, while laboratory tests show that the typhoid germ lives longest—its maximum limit of life while frozen in ice being placed at three months. Since natural ice is usually stored at least ninety days before it is shipped to market, the matter of its purity need not be doubted. Many tests of natural ice have shown that it is far more pure than the city water of most communities.—Floyd W. Parsons in

TO AND SCHOOLS

Gathering at Louisville to Devise Ways and Means.

H. C. Helm and Supt. J. M. Calvin attended the conference of school boards and superintendents in Louisville last week. Their object was to improve conditions as regards schools in cities of the fourth class.

An organization was perfected to formulate, and get enacted, legislation for the financial relief of these cities. It was found that practically all fourth class cities are in need of 50 per cent more revenue than they can get under present laws. So, after several hours of discussion, it was decided unanimously, to draft and present to the next general assembly a bill "providing that where a system of graded schools have heretofore been organized, embracing a fourth class city, under any of the laws of the State of Kentucky such system shall constitute a single district, and that a tax rate be provided sufficient to meet the demands of such district, and that such district be an independent corporate body of such city. It was also the opinion of this organization that the rate should be fixed at the maximum of $1.00 on each one hundred dollars worth of taxable property.

Various committees were appointed to carry out this work. Prof. Calvin was named as a member of the Organization Committee.

A HINT TO THE WISE

I'd advise every man and young man to buy an extra Suit and pair of Shoes NOW

Every man and young man who is on the lookout for real economy ought to lay in an extra suit and pair of shoes for this and the coming season. I am familiar with general market conditions, and am sure clothes, shoes, hats, shirts and all wearables are sure to cost you considerable more next spring.

Clothing and shoe prices may go down sometime; I hope they will, but right now they are rising rapidly, and it is going to be that way for a year or more. Wholesale costs for spring are going to be considerable more than for this fall, so the money you put into extra clothes, shoes, etc., now during this money saving opportunity is bound to mean a big saving.

BUTCHER ARTICLE 10

Reservations on Treaty Carried by Republicans a Final Show-Down.

Squarely joining the issue with President Wilson, the Senate adopted Thursday a reservation qualifying the obligations of the United States under article 10 of the league of nations covenant.

A solid Republican lineup, reinforced by four Democratic votes, put the reservation across exactly as it came from the foreign relations committee, and in virtually the language which the president declared on his western tour would cut the heart out of the covenant and mean the rejection of the treaty. The vote by which the reservation won was 46 to 33.

The fight for reservations having thus been carried to a climax, the Republicans presented for future action a cloture proposal designed to bring final action on the question of ratification within a week. A less sweeping measure, proposing limitation on the reservation debate only, had been put in by the Democrats earlier in the day, but rejected when the Republicans voted to sustain a point of order against it.

The reservation to article 10 of the peace treaty, which was adopted by the United States Senate and which is similar to one which President Wilson declared on his speaking tour would practically mean rejection of the treaty is as follows:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere with controversies between nations—whether members of the league or not—under the provisions of article 10, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose unless in any particular case the Congress, which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war or authorize the employment of the military or naval forces of the United States, shall by act or joint resolution provide."

The following reservations to the peace treaty were adopted by the United States Senate Saturday:

1—Reserving to Congress the right to decide whether the United States shall accept any mandate given it by the league of nations.

2—Reserving freedom of action on domestic questions, including boundary disputes affecting the United States.

3—Reserving complete jurisdiction over the Monroe Doctrine.

4—Withholding assent to the Shantung settlement.

5—Providing that appointment of American delegates to the league of commissions authorized under it must have approval of Senate.

6—Providing that the reparations commission shall not interfere with trade between Germany and the United States.

7—Stipulating that America's share of the league's expenses shall be paid only through appropriations by Congress.

8—Making clear that limitation of armaments shall not apply to United States when threatened with war.

9—Reserving freedom of intercourse with nationals of covenant-breaking states not living in their own country.

10—Providing that no article of the treaty shall make illegal or contravene rights of American citizens.

80-ACRE FARM CHEAP.

80 acres, one mile of Wardell on a road that can be traveled almost every day in the year with an auto. This is an old deadening, 50 acres having been slashed and burned over twice, so the entire 80 acres can be put to crop next spring with very little work or expense.

There are no buildings, but fenced on three sides and surrounded with highly improved farms. This is a fine black, sandy, loam soil. We will also sell this as it is for $75 an acre, or, we will clear it all for the plow for $90 an acre, and furnish a renter for this also, if purchaser desires.

At our prices and on our terms any one who knows how to farm can buy these lands and pay for them and, own a farm that should be worth $200 an acre inside of three years. We will sell this track without a dollar down.

40 YEARS AGO.

Blood Poison Was Conquered by Old Doctor's Prescription Within Your Reach Today.

40 years ago "Number 40 For The Blood" conquered many cases of specific blood poison in its worst forms, which have not returned. This disease is manifested by mucous patches, copper colored spots, aching bones, ulcers or running sores, falling hair, glandular swellings, pimples on the face, constipation and a form of dyspepsia. Your health is important, insist on "Number 40," put up in a blue carton bearing the signature of J. C. Mendenhall, 40 years a druggist, Evansville, Ind.

Hats off to the Fulton county magistrates. Our roads, as a whole, are again in the pink of condition, notwithstanding the fact that they were almost knocked out of the best road-making season last spring and again this fall. With the exception of a few places, we will start in this winter with the best roads we have ever had. The few bad places will be repaired if the weather gives the road force a half chance. All in all, this has been the worst year on roads in the recollection of the present generation. Under the old hit and miss system of road work half as much would have been accomplished and the highways would have been impassable by now.

DO YOU WANT THIS LITTLE FARM

160 acres, 120 acres in cultivation, with two very good tenant houses, and one good house, barn 50 x 60 feet, on a main county road and, in a highly improved farming community. There is 25 acres of wheat sowed on the place Little River ditch touches the south.

This land is located 4 miles southwest of Wardell on a good road, the which goes with the sale of the land, and east lines. Is high and dry land, no overflow, and the drainage is good. It is a fine soil, just such a farm as many would ask $150 an acre for.

The price of this farm, if sold before January 1st, 1920, is only $110 an acre, with $3,000 to $4,000 cash, the balance on easy terms. We believe this farm will rent for $15 an acre, cash rent, or we will guarantee $12 an acre cash rent, if desired for cultivated part.

CHAPTER XV.

Large Bodies Move Slowly—But Mr. Sprouse Was Smaller Than the Average.

There was not a sound for many seconds. She was the first to speak. "I am ready to return with you, Mr. O'Dowd," she said distinctly. "There must be no struggle, no bloodshed. Anything but that."

O'Dowd spoke out of the darkness: "You forget that I have your own word for it that you're a dead woman before the day is over. Wouldn't it be better for me to begin shooting at once and spare your soul the everlasting torture that would begin immediately after your self-produced decease?"

A little cry of relief greeted this quaint reply. "You have my word that I will return with you quietly if—" "Thunderation!" exclaimed Barnes wrathfully. "What do you think I am? A worm that—"

"Easy, easy, me dear man," cautioned O'Dowd. "Keep your seat. Don't be deceived by my infernal Irish humor. It is my way to be always polite, agreeable and—prompt. I'll shoot in a second if ye move one step outside that cabin."

"O'Dowd, you haven't the heart to drag her back to that beast of a—" "Hold hard! We'll come to the point without further palavering. Where are ye dragging her yourself, ye rascal?"

"To a place where she will be safe from insult, injury, degradation—" "Well, I have no fault to find with ye for that," said O'Dowd. "Bedad, I didn't believe you had the nerve to tackle the job. You may be interested to know that up to the moment I left the house your absence had not been noticed, my dear Miss Cameron. And as for you, my dear Barnes, your visit is not even suspected. How the devil did ye do it, Barnes?"

"Are you disposed to be friendly, O'Dowd?" demanded Barnes. "If you are not, we may just as well fight it out now as later on."

"You are not to fight!" she cried in great agitation. "What are you doing? Put it away! Don't shoot!"

"Is it a gun he is pulling?" inquired O'Dowd calmly. "And what the deuce are you going to aim at, me hearty? I have a bull's-eye lantern with me. From the luxurious seat behind this rock I could spot ye in a second. Having said as much I now propose arbitration. Would ye mind handing over that tin box in exchange for my polite thanks and a courteous goodby to both of ye?"

"We have no box of any description, Mr. O'Dowd," cried she triumphantly. "Thank heaven, he got safely away!"

"Do you mean to tell me you came away without the—your belongings, Miss Cameron?" exclaimed O'Dowd.

"They are not with me," she replied. Her grasp on Barnes' arm tightened. "Oh, isn't it splendid? They did not catch him. He—"

"Will you both swear on your sacred honor that ye haven't the jewels in your possession?"

"Unhesitatingly," said Barnes.

"I swear, Mr. O'Dowd."

"Then," said he, "I have no time to waste here. I am looking for a tin box. I beg your pardon for disturbing you."

"Oh, Mr. O'Dowd, I shall never forget all that you have—"

"Whist, now! There is one thing I must insist on your forgetting completely: all that has happened in the last five minutes. What I am doing, Mr. Barnes, would be my death sentence if it ever became known."

"It shall never be known through me, O'Dowd. I'd like to shake your hand, old man."

"God bless you, Mr. O'Dowd," said the girl in a low, small voice, singularly suggestive of tears. "Some day I may be in a position to—"

"Don't say it! You'll spoil everything if you let me think you are in my debt. Bedad, don't be so sure I shan't see you again, and soon."

"Tell me how to find Hart's Tavern, old man. I'll—"

"No, I'm dashed if I do. You ought to be grateful to me for not stopping you entirely, without asking me to give you a helping hand. Good-by, and God bless you. I'm praying that ye get away safely. Miss Cameron. So long, Barnes. If you were a crow and wanted to roost on that big tree in front of Hart's Tavern, I dare say you'd take the shortest way there by flying as straight as a bullet from the mouth of this pit, following your extremely good-looking nose."

They did not wait for the break of day. Taking O'Dowd's hint, Barnes directed his steps straight out from the mouth of the quarry and pressed confidently onward. In answer to a question she informed him that there were no fewer than twenty-five men in Green Fancy, all of them shrewd, resolute and formidable.

"I cannot, for the life of me, see why they took chances on inviting me to the house, Miss Cameron."

She was silent for a moment, and when she spoke it was with great intensity. "Mr. Barnes, I had your life in my hands all the time you were at Green Fancy. I shudder now when I think of what might have happened. Before you were asked to the house, I was coolly informed that you would not leave it alive if I so much as breathed a word to you concerning my unhappy plight. The first word of an appeal to you would have been the signal for—your death. That is what they held over me. When I spoke to you on the couch that night, I—oh, don't you see? Don't you see that I wantonly, cruelly, selfishly risked your life—not my own—when I—"

"There, there, now!" he cried, consolingly, as she put her hands to her face and gave way to sobs.

"Forgive me," she murmured. "I didn't mean to be so silly."

"It helps, to cry sometimes," he said lamely.

The first faint signs of day were struggling out of the night when they stole across the road above Hart's Tavern and made their way through the stable yard to the rear of the house. His one thought was to get her safely inside the Tavern.

The door was locked. He delivered a series of resounding kicks upon its stout face. Revolver in hand, he faced about and waited for the assault of the men who, he was sure, would come plunging around the corner of the building in response to the racket. But there was no attack.

At last there were sounds from within. A key grated in the lock and a bolt was shot. The door flew open. Mr. Clarence Dillingford appeared in the opening, partially dressed, his hair sadly tumbled, his eyes blinking in the light of the lantern he held aloft.

"Well, what the—" Then his gaze alighted on the lady. "For the love of—" began the embarrassed Dillingford. "What the devil—I say, can't you see that I'm not dressed? What the—"

"Give me that lantern," said Barnes, and snatched the article out of the unresisting hand. "Show me the way to Miss Thackeray's room, Dillingford. No time for explanations."

"Well, for the love of—"

"I will take you to Miss Thackeray's room," said Barnes, leading her swiftly through the narrow passage. "She will make you comfortable for the— that is until I am able to secure a room for you. Come on, Dillingford."

Miss Thackeray was awake. Through the closed door she asked what on earth was the matter.

"I have a friend here—a lady. Will you dress as quickly as possible and take her in with you for a little while?"

There was no immediate response from the inside. Then Miss Thackeray observed, quite coldly: "I think I'd like to hear the lady's voice, if you don't mind. I recognize yours perfectly, Mr. Barnes, but I am not in the habit of opening my—"

"I guess I don't need to dress," said Miss Thackeray, and opened her door. "Come in, please. I don't know who you are or what you've been up to, but there are times when women ought to stand together. And what's more, I shan't ask any questions."

She closed the door behind the unexpected guest, and Barnes gave a great sigh of relief.

"Say, Mr. Barnes," said Miss Thackeray, several hours later, coming upon him in the hall, "I guess I'll have to ask you to explain a little. She's a nice, pretty girl, and all that, but she won't open her lips about anything."

She says you will do the talking. I'm a good sport, you know, and not especially finicky, but I'd hate to—"

"How is she? Is she resting? Does she seem—"

"Well, she's stretched out on my bed with my best nightgown, and she seems to be doing as well as could be expected," said Miss Thackeray dryly.

"Has she had coffee and—"

"I am going after it now. It seems that she is in the habit of having it in bed. I wish I had her imagination. It would be great to imagine that all you have to do is to say, 'I think I'll have coffee and rolls and one egg' sent up, and then go on believing your wish would come true. Still, I don't mix—"

She seems so nice and pathetic, and in trouble, and I—"

"Thank you, Miss Thackeray. If you will see that she has her coffee I'll—I'll wait for you here in the hall and try to explain. I can't tell you everything at present—not without her consent—but what I do tell will be sufficient to make you think you are listening to a chapter of a dime novel."

He had already taken Putnam Jones into his confidence. He saw no other way out of the new and somewhat extraordinary situation.

His uneasiness increased to consternation when he discovered that Sprouse had not yet put in an appearance. What had become of the man? He could not help feeling, however, that somehow the little agent would suddenly pop out of the chimney in his room, or sneak in through a crack under the door—and laugh at his fears.

Shortly before the noon hour, Peter Ames halted the old automobile from Green Fancy in front of the Tavern and stepped O'Dowd, followed by no less a personage than the pseudo Mr. Loeb. There were a number of traveling bags in the tonneau of the car.

Catching sight of Barnes, the Irishman shouted a genial greeting.

"The top of the morning to ye. You remember Mr. Loeb, don't you? Mr. Curtis' secretary. Mr. Loeb is leaving us for a few days on business. Good morning, Mr. Boneface," he called out to Putnam Jones who approached at (Continued on next page.)

that juncture. "We are sadly in want of gasoline."

"Barnes caught the look that the Irishman shot at him out of the corner of his eye."

"Perhaps you'd better see that the scoundrels don't give us short measure, Mr. Loeb," said O'Dowd. Loeb hesitated for a second, and then, evidently in obedience to a command from the speaker's eye, moved off to where Peter was opening the intake. O'Dowd lowered his voice. "Barnes, I let you off last night, and I let her off as well. In return, I ask you to hold your tongue until the man down there gets a fair start. A day's start and—"

"Are you in danger, too, O'Dowd?" "To be sure—but I love it. I can always squirm out of tight places."

"I would not deliberately put you in jeopardy, O'Dowd."

"See here, I am going back to that house up yonder. There is still work for me there. What I'm after now is to get him on the train at Hornville. I'll be here again at four o'clock, on me word of honor. Trust me, Barnes."

"Do you mean to say that you are coming back here to run the risk of being—"

"We've had word that the government has men on the way. Why, hang it all, Barnes, don't you know who it was that engineered that whole business last night?"

Barnes smiled. "I do. He is a secret agent from the embassy."

"Secret granny!" almost shouted O'Dowd. "He is the slickest, cleverest crook that ever drew the breath of life. And he's got away with the jewels, for which you can whistle in vain, I'm thinking."

"For heaven's sake, O'Dowd—" began Barnes, his blood like ice in his veins.

"But don't take my word for it. Ask her—upstairs there, God bless her!—ask her if she knows Chester Naismith. She'll tell ye, my bucko. He's been standing guard outside her window for the past three nights. He's—"

"Now I know you are mistaken," cried Barnes, a wave of relief surging over him. "He has been in this tavern every night—"

"Sure he has. But answer me, did ye ever see him here after eleven in the evening? You did not—not until last night, anyhow. In the struggle he had with Nicholas last night he was recognized. That's why poor old Nicholas is lying dead up there at the house now—and will have a decent burial unbeknownst to anybody but his friends."

"Good God, O'Dowd, you can't mean that he—he killed—"

"He stuck a knife in his neck. The dirty snake! And the chief trusted him as no crook ever was trusted before. In the name of God, Barnes, how did you happen to fall in with the villain?"

Barnes passed his hand over his brow, dazed. "He—he represented himself as a book agent," he mumbled, striving to collect himself. "Jones knew him. Said he had been around here for weeks. I—"

"That's the man," said O'Dowd, scowling. "He trotted all over the county, selling books. For the love of it, do ye think? Not much. He had other fish to fry, you may be sure. Barnes, if we ever lay hands on that friend of yours—well, he won't have to fry in hell. He'll be burnt alive. Thank God, my mind's at rest on one score. She didn't skip out with him. They all think he did. Not one of them suspects that she came away with you. There is plenty of evidence that she let him in through her window—"

"All ready, O'Dowd," called Loeb. "Come along, please."

"Coming," said the Irishman. "Don't blame yourself, old man. See you later, Barnes. So long!"

CHAPTER XVII.

The First Wayfarer Visits a Shrine, Confesses, and Takes an Oath.

How was he to find the courage to impart the appalling news to her? He was now convinced beyond all doubt that the so-called Sprouse had made off with the priceless treasure and that only a miracle could bring about its recovery. He realized to what extent he had been shaped into a tool to be used by the master craftsman. He saw through the whole Machiavellian scheme, and he was also now morally certain that Sprouse would have sacrificed him without the slightest hesitation.

In the event that anything went wrong with their enterprise, the man would have shot him dead and earned the gratitude and commendation of his associates! He would have been glorified and not crucified by his friends.

With a heavy heart he mounted the stairs. At the top he paused to deliberate. Would it not be better to keep her in ignorance? What was to be gained by revealing to her the— But Miss Thackeray was turing him on to destruction. She stood outside the door and beckoned. Then she closed the door from the outside, and Barnes was alone with the cousin of kings and queens and princes.

"I feared you had deserted me," she said, holding out her hand to him as he strode across the room.

"I saw no occasion to disturb your rest," he mumbled.

"I have been peeping," she said, looking at him searchingly. "Where is Mr. Loeb going, Mr. Barnes?"

"O'Dowd says he is to be gone for a few days on business," he equivocated.

"He will not return," she said quietly. "He is a coward at heart. Oh, I know him well," she went on, scorn in her voice.

"Was I wrong in not trying to stop him?" he asked.

She pondered this for a moment. "No," she said, but he caught the dubious note in her voice. "It is just as well, perhaps, that he should disappear. His flight today spares—but we are more interested in the man Sprouse. Has he returned?"

"No, Miss Cameron," said he ruefully. "And then, without a single reservation, he laid bare the story of Sprouse's defection. When he inquired if she had heard of the man known as Chester Naismith, she confirmed his design to waylay me on the road from Spanish Falls by a singular occurrence in this tavern. He was attacked in his room here, overpowered, bound and gagged by two men. He knew the men. They were thieves as clever and as merciless as himself. They too were watching for me. I do not know how these men learned of my intention to come to Green Fancy."

"They came to the Tavern four or five days before your arrival at Green Fancy," Barnes interrupted. "Sprouse told me that they were secret service men from abroad and that he was working with them. My theory is this, and I think it is justified by events: The men were really secret agents, sent here to watch the movements of the gang up there. They came upon Sprouse and recognized him. On the day mentioned they overpowered him and forced him to reveal certain facts connected with affairs at Green Fancy. Possibly he led them to believe that you were one of the conspirators. They waited for your arrival and then risked the hazardous worst fear by describing him as the guard who watched beneath her window. He was known to her as a thief of international fame.

"You were no match for Chester Naismith. Do not look so gloom. The shrewdest police officers in Europe have never been able to cope with him. Why should you despair?"

He sprang to his feet. "By gad, he hasn't got away with it yet," he grated. "I will run this scoundrel down if I have to devote the remainder of my life to the task."

She sighed. "Alas, I fear that I shall have to tell you a little more about this wonderful man you know as Sprouse. Six months ago the legitimate successor to my country's throne consummated a plan whereby the crown jewels and certain documents of state were surreptitiously removed from the palace vaults. Instead of depositing the treasure in Paris, it was sent to this country in charge of a group of men whose fealty could not be questioned. The man you know as Loeb is in reality my cousin. I have known him all my life. He is the youngest brother of the pretender to the throne, and a cousin of the prince who is held prisoner by the Austrians. This prince has a brother also, and it was to him that I was supposed to deliver the jewels. I traveled from New York, but not alone as you may suspect. I was carefully protected from the time I left my hotel there until, until I arrived in Boston."

"While there I received a secret message from friends in Canada directing me to go to Spanish Falls, where I would be met and conducted by Prince Sebastian himself to the place called Green Fancy, which was near the Canadian border. A safe escort would be provided for us, and we would be on British soil within a few hours after our meeting. It is only necessary to add that when I arrived at Green Fancy I met Prince Ugo—and understood! I had carefully covered my tracks after leaving Boston. My real friends were, and still are, completely in the dark as to my movements, so skilfully was the trick managed."

"And now for Chester Naismith. It was he who, acting for the misguided loyalists and recommended by certain young aristocrats who by virtue of their own dissipations had come to know him as a man of infinite resourcefulness and daring, planned and carried out the pillaging of the palace vaults. Almost under the noses of the foreign guards he succeeded in obtaining the jewels. No doubt he could have made off with them at that time, but he shrewdly preferred to have them brought to America by some one else. It would have been impossible for him to dispose of them in Europe. You see how cunning he is?"

"He was no doubt thwarted in his

A WHALING PRICE.

It is reported that W. O. Stafford has sold his hill farm, south of Hickman, and containing 125 acres, for $250 an acre. We have been unable to verify this report, although it is common talk. "Bill" Stafford's place happens to be in the "oil region" and if he received such a price, it is not necessarily a matter of surprise, as land in that section has been selling at double and triple its value for farming purposes.

Dome Oil Co. Has Derrick Up and is Almost Ready to Start Drill.

It appears now that the Dome Oil Co., composed of Mayfield capitalists and one or two members of Tiptonville, will have the distinction of putting down the first well to come out of the present oil boom. Barring bad weather, this concern hopes to start operations the last of this week.

The big derrick is up and can be easily seen from the C. M. & G. Ry., as one enters Proctor City, a small village in Lake county, and not far from this county. It is about a quarter of a mile to the north of the railroad. They already have everything on the ground, including casing for about 1600 feet.

An average day's drilling, we understand, is 100 feet, but this depends upon the character and amount of rock struck. At the start the drill drops rapidly and continues easy going until the rock strata are hit.

The Dome Co. is starting on the Wright Estate land, and has quite a large acreage under lease in that immediate section. Its operations will be watched with more than passing interest.

It is reported that other interests made overtures to the Dome people to acquire its holdings, but that they refused to consider the offer.

Hickman Farmer Has Seen Mysterious Fire For Years.

If he was not otherwise truthful and a man whose character is above reproach, we would take with a grain of salt, the story told us by J. H. Langford, who resides on a hill-truck farm south of town. For many years, at different intervals, he has seen some mysterious fire in a certain draw or hollow on his farm. This fire leaves no trace of its burning, yet it is sufficient to "light up plainly the tops of the tallest trees in the immediate vicinity." He says the fire has all the appearance of an old log burning, but when approached usually "goes out" when one gets within a few yards of it. On one occasion (and the first time he saw it 25 years ago), he thought it was a log on fire. This time it was on the hill instead of the hollow. He and his son, Bennett, went to it with the intention of putting it out. When they reached the little hill on the opposite side of the ravine, a section of some five to seven feet went out; after a few seconds it blazed up again. Mr. Langford described it as a fire "about 20 or 30 feet long."

Ever and anon this mysterious fire, which burns without starting and without fuel, occurs and is always in a certain place. He has quit thinking much about it, since he has found that it is not endangering his property. It generally occurs only at night. Whether it is a form of gas, ignited by spontaneous combustion, or a leaky "anticline," is not known. He is sure, however, it is not the ordinary fire, as it leaves no traces of ashes.

SUGAR IS STILL SHORT.

The prospects for relief in the sugar situation are but slim, and it may be that rationing will be resorted to as it was during the war. Some of the Hickman cafes are already serving sugar thus, parceling it out in a small envelope.

Hickman merchants, however, are retailing sugar at 15 cents a pound, while in Memphis it is 22 cents a pound. It is only a question of a short time before the local merchants will be compelled to advance the price. Wholesalers are now getting as high as 20c a pound for it. Two pounds is still the limit here.

PEACE WITH GERMANY.

Republican Senators in Congress are preparing to pass a concurrent resolution declaring the United States at peace with Germany in the event that President Wilson refuses to submit to the allied governments the reservations to the peace treaty adopted by the Senate, or in the event that the resolution or ratification be defeated.

This purpose was indicated by Representative Towner of Iowa, following a conference of the House and Senate leaders. The Senate had refused to consent to an adjournment by the House because of the probability that the treaty would fail, in which event the House must be in session, the House leaders were told, to act on a concurrent resolution declaring peace.

For the year of peace and plenty,
And for blessings without end,
Let the voices of the people
In Thanksgiving praises blend.

THANKSGIVING DISHES.

Something new or untried is always welcome for the great national Thanksgiving day.

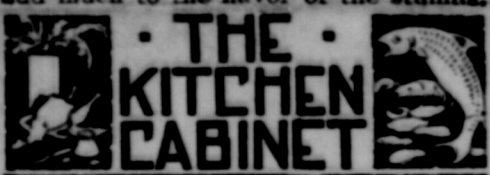

Baked Hubbard squash served as an escalloped dish is not a common way of treating the time-honored dish, yet it is very good for a change.

Dainty little pumpkin pies baked in patty tins are great favorites with the small people, and for the older people they may be heaped with whipped cream and sprinkled with finely grated snappy cheese.

Sweet potatoes cooked until tender, then buttered and sprinkled with sugar and set into the oven to brown is a pleasant way of serving them.

Parisian Apples.—Peel the apples and cut them into small balls with a potato cutter. Put to cook in a rich syrup flavored with lemon juice and rind, and cooked with the bright peelings of the apples for color. When tender, cool and serve in sherbet glasses with the juice poured over them and a spoonful of sweetened whipped cream for a garnish. This dish, served with plain boiled rice, is a very wholesome dessert for children.

Chestnut Soup.—Peel a quart of large chestnuts and boil in salted water; remove the brown peeling and chop fine. Add a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar, the rind of a lemon and a quart of water. Bring to a boil and cook slowly for an hour. Rub through a sieve, add two quarts of chicken or veal stock, a tablespoonful of parsley finely minced, a tablespoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of butter well blended. Season with red pepper and simmer twenty minutes, stirring until well blended. Put through a sieve and serve. A yolk of egg added to the soup just before serving adds both nourishment and slight thickening.

Be honest, but hate no one; overturn a man's wrong doing, but do not overturn him unless it must be done in overturning wrong.

FOR THE THANKSGIVING TABLE.

For the breakfast on Thanksgiving day, when all the good things our purses and markets can furnish are planned for the dinner, let us not forget to serve:

Chestnut Pancakes.—Beat separately the yolks and whites of three eggs, add three-quarters of a cupful of cream, a tablespoonful each of fat and sugar, with sufficient flour (using corn flour) and two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, to make a batter. When the cakes are baked spread each with mashed and seasoned chestnuts.

Frozen Cranberries.—This makes a most delightful change from the ordinary method of serving cranberries. Pick over and wash a quart of fine berries. Add two cupfuls of sugar and two cupfuls of water and when boiling add the berries. Cook until soft; cool and add one-half cupful of lemon juice. Rub through a sieve, turn into a melon mold and bury in ice and salt for four hours. When ready to serve unmold and send at once to the table.

Pear and Tomato Salad.—This is a combination especially good, and not at all common. Take small even-sized tomatoes, peel and cut in petal-shaped pieces without separating them, so that the tomato lies like an open flower. Peel ripe pears and slice on a vegetable slicer into strings; heap over the tomato, add French dressing and a little minced celery. The dressing should be well seasoned and a generous portion of cayenne added.

Thanksgiving Pudding.—To two cupfuls of fine bread crumbs, softened with a cupful of grape juice, add three well-beaten eggs, one-half cupful each of brown sugar and molasses, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg to taste. Mix well and add one cupful of raisins, chopped, one-half cupful of dried currants, one-quarter of a cupful of candied orange peel and half a cupful of nutmeats, all well dredged with flour. Sift two teaspoonfuls of baking powder with one-half cupful of flour and add, beating well. Put into well-buttered molds and steam three hours. Garnish the pudding with nut meats when serving.

NC-4 COMING

Famous Transatlantic Seaplane May be Seen Here Tuesday.

The famous NC-4, the first heavier than air machine to cross the Atlantic ocean, may be seen at Hickman on Tuesday, Nov. 25th, while enroute to Memphis. This monster machine carries a crew of 7 to 10 men.

Unfortunately, Lieut. Read, who made the trip across the ocean and who is now in charge of the machine, will not be able to stop. In response to an invitation sent him by Mayor-elect West, he stated that they would do the best they could—fly low and give the people at Hickman a good view of the machine in operation. They are due to pass here between 12 and 1 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon—so be on the lookout if you want to see it.

Not only is the NC-4 the first heavier than air craft to cross the Atlantic, but she is the largest sea-plane ever constructed and of a purely American design. She has a wing spread of 126 feet, length over all 68 feet, with a 45 foot hull. Without crew and fuel she weighs eight tons and with fuel and fully manned as on the transatlantic flight her total weight is fourteen tons. Her maximum speed is ninety-three miles per hour, and she has carried as many as fifty passengers at one time.

The building of such mammoth planes was strictly in line with the program laid out by the Navy Department to combat the submarine menace, and had the enemy under sea craft gained the upper hand during 1918 there would now be hundreds of these giant planes crossing the Atlantic, making the operation of the submarine an impossibility.

On the first transatlantic flight the NC-4 left Rockaway Beach, Long Island, N. Y., on May 8th 1911, arriving in Plymouth, England, on May 31st, 1918, having covered a distance of 4486 miles in an actual flying time of 57 hours and 16 minutes at an average speed of 78 miles per hour.

This will be the only opportunity of citizens of this locality to see the NC-4 in actual operation. At the termination of the present recruiting tour the historical craft will be placed on permanent exhibition in the National Museum so that future generations may see the type of craft which first spanned the Atlantic Ocean by the air route.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS.

Last week we announced the fact that newspaper paper (used in making newspapers) had advanced $25.00 on the ton. Since the last issue of the Courier we have received notice of another advance of about $28.00 a ton—and the end is not in sight, to say nothing of the existing shortage and the limit on sale to one-half ton. To make a long story short, this means an advance in advertising rates—no way around it. Rates for space in the Courier will be 10c per line per week for display advertising in the Courier goes up 5c on the inch after December 1. Locals will be 10c a line, want ads 2c a word, cash with order. Advertisers need not become alarmed or stampeded—merely reduce your space and spend your usual allowance. The reduction in space is what we want. Otherwise, we will run out of paper. We regret that this advance is necessary at a time when it looks like taking snap judgment, but it can't be helped. The outrageous and profiteering advance hit us at the same crucial period. We might have made it through the holidays on the old rate had it not been for this last $28.00 jump. Paper is now selling up to $200.00 a ton, whereas before the war it was only $48. The new rates will necessarily have to remain in effect until we get some relief.

LAND FOR SALE.

The pumpkin is not only a delectable food in pies, but the Germans have found it a valuable substitute for potatoes in bread, while the edible seeds contain a considerable amount of oil. Mixed with pumpkin porridge, 10 per cent of the flour is saved. Freed from the seed-coat, the seeds can be substituted for almonds, or they will yield 50 per cent of oil, which averages 56 per cent of nitrogenous material and nearly 26 per cent of crude fat. The oil cake may be used as animal food or purified for human food. It is figured that an acre will produce about 11 tons of pumpkins, which will furnish about eight tons of bread material, and 80 pounds of oil, besides 2 3-4 tons of green fodder, 220 pounds of ground seed-coats and 140 pounds of oil cake.

Editor Jas. Brice, of the Union City News-Banner, was a caller at this office Tuesday. Mr. Brice was here on business in connection with a land deal. We are glad to learn that he has again gotten together a force to man his plant, after having been almost without help for months. Edwin Fuqua, of Hickman, is again running his linotype. The Banner may be expected to appear from now on with its former force and vigor.

Chesley Douglas, who is attending school at McKenzie, spent Saturday and Sunday here with his parents, Rev. R. C. Douglas and family.

F. T. Randle is on the sick list this week.

As one drives through the country now they can see a dozen of sheep grazing where they used to not see one. The sheep industry in this county in the past year seems to have doubled and thrived many times over and especially just recently. There are many pastures on farms near Hickman now and sheep may be seen on almost every farm between here and Fulton on the State Line road and sheep of excellent stock. This is due partially to the fact that cotton has become so high that the demand is greater for wool, also due to the high prices that now prevail for their fleece, in fact the raising of stock of all kinds seems to be much on the increase.

Fresh meats—Bondurant Bros.

Mrs. Clara Naylor entertained at two tables of Boston Rook on Monday evening for her niece, Mrs. Bobbie Salmons, of Jonesboro, Ark., who was formerly Miss Eula Johnson. A salad course was served. The guests were Mesdames Ben Briggs, DeWitt Reid, C. T. Bondurant, W. C. Reed, and Misses Mildred Ramage and Carrie May Reid.

Col. C. L. Walker went to Dyersburg, Tenn., Tuesday morning to be on hand for the big land sale there Wednesday.

Mrs. J. M. Reid has returned from a visit with Miss Mabel Truby at Nashville.

Mrs. A. S. Birnbaum, of Memphis, is the guest of Mrs. Guy Hale.

The Daughters of Confederacy were last entertained by Mrs. W. A. Dodds, Miss Ora Mae Layson addressing this meeting regarding organizing different clubs. Ambrosia and cake were served and a bunch of lilacs given each guest.

The Gamma Tau Club was entertained on Wednesday of last week by Mrs. W. B. Amberg, there being four tables. A salad course was served.

Judge W. B. Amberg went to Dyersburg Tuesday remaining over Wednesday for the land sale there.

Cotton has been coming in at a lively rate this week.

A RIDICULOUS STORY.

In connection with the report of the recent analysis of city water, which proved bad, a ridiculous story has been circulated—that a corpse, a "dead man" was found in the big well. The story even goes so far as to say "he was well dressed and a white man." Many people have made inquiry at this office regarding the matter, and some of our country friends wanted to know if we were "still using the water?" Of course there is no foundation for the story. It is the creation of some practical joker, but some folks have fallen for it.

LOG 162 FT. UNDER GROUND.

F. M. Gallimore, the local well man, tells us that in sinking a well for Hugh J. French, on the old Dodds' East farm, the drill struck a log at a depth of 162 feet. Four feet below the log water was struck. To a geologist the finding of an old log at this depth would mean a great deal—to the rest of us it is merely unusual.

W. F. Montgomery, of the party returning from a hunting trip at Dumas, Ark., tells us they killed two deer during the nine days they were there.

Mayor Pittman, of Union City, is a candidate for re-election. Better send over and get J. O. West or Sid Hamby to manage his campaign.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Compiled by Judge B. T. Davis.

Twenty-Ninth Installment.

When the county was formed in 1845 the office of constable was doubtless more important than at the present. Under the action creating Fulton county it was provided that there should be five constable districts. These districts were laid off at the first term of the County Court. The boundary of the first district was given as follows: Commencing on the Mississippi River at the end of the levee opposite the town of Hickman, Kentucky, then with said levee to Union street, thence with the line of said street south to the boundary of section 10, thence east to the Troy Road, thence with the Troy Road to the State Line and district was to include all of the county west of this line.

District No. 2 was that portion of Fulton county west of Mud Creek and east of this line. District No. 3 was that portion of Fulton county east of Mud Creek and west of section line running north and south, one mile east of the Moscow and Cayce Road. District No. 4 was that portion of Fulton county south of the State Road and east of the line of District No. 3 and District No. 5 was that portion which is north of the State Road and east of the district line No. 3.

There may have been some honor as well as business attached to the office of constable at that time, but the office has not been sought as a political preferment in Fulton county within the last thirty years.

The line between districts Nos. 1 and 2 began on the Mississippi River at the end of the levee opposite the town of Hickman, Kentucky, then with said levee to Union street, thence with the line of said street south to the boundary of section 10, thence east to the Troy Road, thence with the Troy Road to the State Line and district was to include all of the county west of this line.

Evidently the levee referred to in this order of the court was a levee thrown across this cypress slough to a roadway from Clinton street out to the boat landing on the line of Union street. William A. Downing was appointed constable in district No. 1.

The assessment of property was then made by Tax Commissioners. The Moscow and Troy road divided the county into two districts, No. 1 being west and No. 2 east of this road. For the year 1846, A. S. Tyler was appointed Commissioner of taxes for District No. 1. He reported 479 tax payers in his district and received for his services eight cents per name or $38.32.

A. G. McFadden was appointed Commissioner of taxes for District No. 2. He reported 313 tax payers in his district and received for his services $15.30, which produced $1188.00 as the revenue for Fulton county for 1846. As audited and allowed the expenditures of Fulton county for the year 1845 amounted to $557.39.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Hickman People Have Found This to be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Does your back ache and become weak? Are urinary passages irregular and distressing?

These symptoms are cause to suspect kidney weakness. Weakened kidneys need quick help. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for weakened kidneys.

Hickman people recommend them. Mrs. Cora Guthrie, 901 Broadway, Hickman, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills when my kidneys were out of order and when my back pained. The trouble, I think, was caused by catching cold and over-working about the house. When I was troubled in this way, Doan's Kidney Pills gave me quick relief. I know they are a good, reliable medicine and worthy of praise."

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish system. When calomel comes into contact with your bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe for children; they like it.

SEEN AROUND TOWN.

Recently the editor was strolling around town on the hunt for some item of news worth passing on to our readers. We found it.

In a certain home the mother was toiling diligently—washing dishes, pots, pans and kettles, sweeping the floors, dusting the furniture and tidying up generally.

But that was nothing new. That mother is always doing the same. She is a wonder.

On the front door steps reclined a young lady, a daughter of the house. She was perusing the latest novel.

That also was nothing new. Reclining and perusing is her favorite pastime. But think of it.

The parent slaving and the daughter lazing.

Some day that daughter may in turn become a mother herself. She may even see the day when necessity will force her to perform household duties, while HER daughter idles away her time.

That dreaded "tired feeling" may become her constant companion in life.

Then perhaps, she may think with regret of the time when she, a strong and healthy girl, lolled the hours away while her own mother toiled that others might be content with their lot in life. The lesson may be slow in coming, but it will be bitter when it arrives.

Approximately 150,000 bales of cotton have been forwarded to Germany from Savannah and Galveston recently and other vessels now at those ports are loading further shipments for Hamburg and Bremen, according to reports to the Manufacturers' Record.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Mitchell and little daughter, Margaret Jo, arrived in Hickman Saturday night and will make this their future home. Mr. Mitchell comes from Texas and is a member of the firm of Roney, Mitchell & Bruer, who are the owners of the Rittenhouse Oil Field, and for the present will act as sales manager for his company. He is a live wire in the oil business and understands it as it is carried on in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma, having lived for several years in Texarkana which is right on the borderland of these three states. He says he believes the Reelfoot Lake Oil Region is better known in Texas than it is here; that telling the people of Texarkana about his holdings here and his proposition, he found that nearly every business man there had already heard of the Reelfoot Lake Oil District and it was no trouble to get them interested in his proposition and they all stated that it was the fairest, best proposition they had ever had offered them.

We are glad to welcome these people to our town. They are not wholly unknown to us. Mrs. Mitchell, formerly Miss Buford Bruer, having lived here until the time of her marriage five years ago.

FULL REPORTS

On State and National Meetings of the Farm Bureaus.

M. M. Gordon, our county farm agent, furnished the Courier the following reports on the state and national Farm Bureaus:

On Nov. 7th and 8th the delegates of the different Farm Bureaus of Kentucky met in Louisville at the Henry Watterson Hotel for the purpose of federating. Thirty-seven counties were represented but only twenty-two of these had active Farm Bureaus. The Fulton County Farm Bureau was represented by Pres. C. D. Nugent and Secy. J. W. Mayes.

Soon after the convention met five of the most thoughtful farmers were put on a committee to draft a suggestion Constitution and By-Laws. These five men were as follows: C. D. Nugent, of Fulton County; C. B. Warren, of Warren County; John R. Downing, of Mason County; John Crenshaw, of Trigg County and Guthrie Coke of Logan County. This committee retired and after several hours of hard work, brought in and presented a suggested constitution for the State Bureau. Much discussion of the proposed constitution prevailed, as each point in the constitution was discussed in detail. After all these questions of dispute were settled the constitution with a few minor alterations was unanimously adopted.

Next came the election of officers. John Crenshaw one of the best known and most capable farmers in Western Kentucky was elected president. Mr. Crenshaw is a Trigg County man. His home is at Cadiz and he is said to be a man of rare executive ability. John B. Downing, of Mason County, (Maysville) was elected 1st. V-President and A. A. Berry, of Davies County, (Owensboro) 2nd. V-President and W. F. Flowers of Logan County, (Russellville) was elected Secretary and Treasurer. All the above men are actively engaged in farming.

President Crenshaw was empowered to select one Farm Bureau member from each Congressional district to act with him and the four officers to form a temporary Executive Committee. This Committee will act until a permanent one shall be elected by the different County Bureaus.

Taken altogether this was a very successful meeting. J. R. Howard Pres. of the Iowa Federation of Farm Bureaus, who was present expressed great wonder that Kentucky had made such wonderful results in organization in such a short time.

President Crenshaw was selected as a delegate to represent Kentucky at the National meeting at Chicago.

The first meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation of which, the Farm Bureaus of Kentucky are affiliated, closed in Chicago last week, the dates being Nov. 12th, 13th, and 14th.

The object of the meeting was the consolidation of the Farm Bureaus all over the United States into one big and powerful organization that can voice the opinions of the farmer to the outside world, and show the farmers viewpoints on all important questions.

There were thirty-three states represented at the meeting which was intensive in every way and was a complete success. The states represented were from every part of the United States including the four corners, Maine, Michigan, California and Florida. Many other states which have not formed Farm Bureaus are preparing to do so and fall in line.

The election of officers took place at this meeting and J. R. Howard, of Iowa, was selected for President of the big organization. Mr. Howard is one of the foremost farmers in the United States and was chairman of the committee of five farmers that conferred with the President and members of Congress in the late high cost of living investigation. S. L. Strivings of New York ran Mr. Howard a close race for President and was later elected Vice-President.

The Kentucky State Farm Bureau was represented at this meeting by its President, John Crenshaw, of Trigg county. Mr. Crenshaw showed his ability, all through the meeting and it was remarked by many that he did not have a superior for quick and clear thinking in the whole assemblage of five hundred and more. Mr. Crenshaw was placed on the Publicity Committee by Pres. Howard. This is quite an honor to Kentucky as the Publicity Committee is at present one of the most important. Mr. Crenshaw associates on this committee are two other farmers one from New York and one from Nebraska.

The American Farm Bureau Federation will have its second meeting in February.

GOOD BARGAIN IN BOTTOM LAND

Here we have a tract of 200 acres of good black bottom land, one mile from Philippi, Tenn. All of this tract has been cut-over but would be a fine farm if put in cultivation and besides it will make any one rich after the oil well has been sunk. We are offering this tract for $85 on easy terms, see us for particulars.—W. T. Bondurant & Son.

EMBARGO ON COAL

Many manufacturing plants throughout the country will be compelled to suspend operations as a result of an embargo on coal, ordered yesterday by the U. S. Fuel Administration. Coal can now be delivered only to (A) Army and Navy; (B) Railroads; (C) family use; and (D) light plants.

Anything not in the above class will get no more coal until the present emergency is over. Factories and stores, of course, are not included in the preferred list. When their present supply is exhausted, they must do without. Production throughout the country is still below consumption and a large number of miners are still idle.

BROTHERHOODS CALL MEETING.

A telegraph call for a joint conference of 500 general chairmen of the four great railroad brotherhoods to consider Director General Hines' offer of slow freight service overtime was issued Tuesday after an all-day conference of brotherhood chiefs.

The meeting, which will be held Monday in Cleveland, is to obtain an expression from the membership of the proposed scheme of overtime payment. They probably also will consider demands for general wage increases which have already been made by two of the brotherhoods, according to W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, who said, however, such is not the purpose of the conference.

In our opinion, we are gradually approaching another railroad crisis—commonly called a strike.

Two more oil leases were recorded at the court house this week. W. L. Clemmons leases oil rights on 271 acres to A. F. Pittsforth, of Union City; the lease to run ten years. Ben Barnett also leases to Dr. W. M. Turner and T. A. Frather, Jr., his oil rights on 145 acres.

Ex-Senator W. A. Frost spent a few hours in town Tuesday. He was en route from Wingo to his farm west of Hickman. Sen. Frost was strongly urged to become a candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture on the state ticket—which also ran the first Tuesday in this month. Since he has seen the result, Sen. Frost considers himself quite lucky in not being a part and parcel of the party which received such a stinging defeat.

The Fulton County Farm Bureau will make a membership drive the week of Nov. 24-29th. Any farmer, who is not a member, will find it to his interest to investigate this association; it means much in these times of high production costs and uncertain marketing conditions. This is already one of the strongest organizations in the county, and growing by leaps and bounds. It is not a pink tea affair, is non-partisan and built strictly for business. If you are not acquainted with its purposes, write Jas. Mayes, secretary, at Hickman, for pamphlet describing its objects. We are sure he will be glad to mail you one.

NO SUGAR IN TOWN.

Practically every merchant in Hickman is out of sugar. Instead of buying from the trust, which would force them to retail at 25c, they prefer to wait and secure their supply through the old channels and sell it at 15c a pound, although this will scarcely take care of the demand. At one of the stores yesterday we heard two men, in search of sugar, say they had not had a pound of sugar in over a month, and, doubtless there are hundreds just like them.

Although the government has never rescinded the retail regulation of 12 1/2 cents a pound, the speculators are paying no attention to it and have brought about a serious shortage—unless one is willing to pay 25c a pound straight. This is no fault of the local dealers—he is not profiteering, but merely making a small margin.

Let us show our gratitude to God.

OIL WELL FRAUDS

Many Schemes are Devised to Catch Unsuspecting Persons.

Oil is about the most fascinating of modern business games. While it creates many millionaires—it also operates to relieve the unsuspecting of their cash and the operation is so painless that the victim rarely squeals; he merely pockets the loss and charges it up to experience. Just now this subject will be of special interest to Hickman people, who have the privilege of watching a big oil boom right at their own doors; who anxiously await developments, which will prove whether it is pay dirt or merely wildcat. J. C. Burkett, of Taylor county, Texas, who has been through the game, both good and bad, gives the following interesting account of how the public is fleeced by grafters:

"All at once there will appear upon the streets of the town two or three strangers, and in a few days they will let it out in some way that they are making investigation to know if there are men in the section who will lease their land for oil purposes. They walk about among the farmers and ranchmen and soon secure 15,000 or 20,000 acres for a dollar an acre or less.

"Then they send for an 'expert' geologist to go over the land and locate a place to put down a well. He makes an examination and gives a favorable report. In a short time a man is employed to put down a well, and in a few weeks the derrick is put up, and the owners of the leases begin to make arrangements to sell the leases at high prices. After the well is down 300 or 400 feet the owners of the leases make it known that the 'log' of the well is first class—just like the wells at Ranger, Caddo or some other oil field. This creates a little more excitement, and some of the leases that cost 50 cents or a dollar now sell for $5 or $10 per acre. But the greatest excitement has not come yet. Wait until they get down about 1500 feet and then see what will take place.

"All at once the report goes out like wildfire over the town and the country where the well is located that they have struck a 'showing of gas,' and the excitement runs a little higher and leases go up again.

"If you are not careful a bit will get hung about this time, but it may be a little later on.

"When they get down about 100 feet further then the thing comes off just right; they strike a showing of oil. By this time the oil dealers are wild with excitement and the leases go up again.

"Now they get ready and put a guard about the well and allow no one except some oil 'expert' to go about it. Soon afterwards a bit gets hung or a casing is pulled apart, and there is a six weeks' delay, and during this delay the owners get busy and sell several thousand dollars per acre near the well. "Just as soon as the excitement begins to die down they send out a report that the bit is hung and it is impossible to pull it, and they take down the derrick and leave the community with a fine bag of money and the community in wonder as to why they did not get more than a 'showing' of oil.

"The fakers got just what they went after—the people's money, and when they got that they pulled up and left. Once in a hundred times it may be that such men really find oil, and the neighbors make money, but in most cases the well is a fake and the poor men and women are stripped of their money."

Stove pipe and elbows at Bondurant Bros.

Another oil story: Twenty years ago Jas. Caldwell, just south of town, had a well that finally developed such a "cool oil taste" that it had to be abandoned and filled up. The well was near the road and many people stopped there for water. When the water became foul with oil, Mr. Caldwell naturally attributed it to the carelessness of some passer-by in spilling coal oil into the well. All these years elapsed and no one knew what the trouble was—until the recent oil boom.

JOURNEYINGS.

We are journeying on through the west,
To a land that is fair as a dream,
Where the fluttering snowflakes will fall at our feet.
While the icicles glisten and gleam:
To the land where the shadows bring sil-lence and sleep.
By the river all frozen and still:
So a song we'll sing and our courage we'll keep
And we'll journey along with a will.
And when we have come to the wonderful place,
We will look through the window and see
The pictures of silver the frost loves to trace.
With a touch so fantastic and free.
The ferns flaunting fine and the flowers
so fair
Will bid us regretfully sigh—
And we'll thankfully take up the journey from there
To return to the summertime sky.

The "Gamer's Clock" would be an appropriate name for a timepiece which appears to have been made with all the implements for gaming that could be secured. "club." A "diamond" serves to point the hours for the hour hand, while a "spade" forms the butt of this hand. The hands are fastened to the clock with dice, while the top is ornamented with a row of tenpins and billiard balls. Over the top a row of billiard cues are crossed.

No Fleas on Monkeys.

Perhaps the most surprising information gathered with respect to fleas is that monkeys have no fleas. This is an assertion that is commonly received with astonishment and incredulity, but, says Howard Russell, the foremost authority on fleas, healthy wild monkeys are much too clean and active to harbor fleas, and when they are seen searching one another's fur in a fashion familiar to all of us it is only to clear their skin of any particles of scurf and dirt.

It may be mentioned, too, that only one instance is on record where a flea was found on a reptile. This was on a brown snake which was captured near Perth, in West Australia, and which was probably derived from some small mammal devoured by the snake. The flea was firmly fixed between the scaly plates of the reptile.

The history of the flea would seem to go back many centuries, but the only fossil remains of a flea that have so far been found is a single insect in a bit of Baltic amber. The flea is admirably preserved by its semi-transparent surroundings.

He Didn't.

Part of the peace celebrations at Little Muchcombe was a shooting match for lads under seventeen. Although the judge had his doubts about some of the competitors, he held his peace.

The prize finally lay between two marksmen, and the excitement became intense.

A small boy of ten or so, who had crowded close up to the barrier, suddenly called out to one of the competitors:

"Good shot dad! A few more of those and you'll get the prize!"—London Answers.

Worth Trying.

"What do you think of the plan to do away with pockets in man's clothes?"

"I think it's a good idea," replied the busy man. "It may be the means of curing some people of the habit of standing around with their hands in their pockets and criticizing other people who are at work."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Answered.

PRES. OF U. D. C.

Former Hickman Lady Receives Unusual Honor in U. D. C. Convention.

A compliment seldom paid in the greatest of the working organizations of the late Confederate States, the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was deservedly bestowed Thursday, at Tampa Fla., with the election of Mrs. Roy McKinney, of Paducah, as president general of the U. D. C. Mrs. McKinney had no opposition and received every vote—1716.

Mrs. McKinney is a daughter of Mrs. Florence Faris, of this city, and was reared here, being a daughter of the late Dr. A. A. Faris, one of the city's most loved citizens and a gallant soldier in the ranks of the Lost Cause. In memory of her father, Mrs. McKinney awards each year, to the chapter making the greatest gain in membership a Faris Loving Cup.

Mrs. McKinney is well known here, where she frequently visits, and her many friends here rejoice in the honor bestowed.

BUILD NEW GIN

Bondurant Closes Deal For New Eight Stand, Modern Plant.

C. T. Bondurant, one of the biggest planters and gin operators in this section, tells us that he has closed a deal for all the machinery to equip a new 8-stand gin, together with modern hullers, cleaners, etc., and will put up a new fire proof gin building on the old East St. Louis Cotton Oil Co. lots in West Hickman, beginning in the early spring.

The old gin, it will be remembered, was burned, and the ginning business since then has been up to only two gins, which cannot properly take care of the business. It has been necessary to run both day and night and Sunday, and still they get behind. Next year, it is thought, the acreage will be increased; hence, the pressing need of a greater ginning capacity at this point. The new plant should solve the problem.

BRICK-BATS AND BOQUETS

What a relief! One week has passed and the public has not been boned on some kind of "drive."

Even Mayor Brown is doing his bit. He is making repairs on the sidewalks between his home and the Stahr row.

At least a dozen big loads of cotton went through Hickman yesterday enroute to Union City gins. What's wrong?

The mad rush for oil land in the hills seems to have cooled down—and some landowners want a Missouri mule to kick them because they did not set on the high tide.

A rare opportunity to see an old maid—at the court house tomorrow night. Of course, there are none in Hickman, so these are being brought in from Sylvan Shade and placed on exhibition. So for 35c you may see the real old maid.

Of all the counties of the First Judicial District, more divorce suits are filed in this county than any two others, although Fulton is the smallest county. Six new cases were filed with Circuit Court Clerk Hayslip last week. There is something radically wrong, but who can prescribe a practical remedy for this growing evil?

We met a Fulton gentleman in Hickman yesterday who was trying to buy a pound of sugar here. This doesn't speak very well for the sugar situation in Fulton. But, he didn't get the sugar here—si its about a stand-off.

The worst of it is, he was once Czar of the county's food supply—being our Ex-County Food Administrator.

Some draymen here, who place their wagons and teams across the street and block traffic while they unload a 5-lb box of merchandise, ought to be kicked and have their chewing tobacco taken away from them. WORKING FOR RAILROAD.

An exchange calls attention to the manner in which the United States railroad administration has been running things in the following manner: "Here is a case which shows how some of the deficit of the railroad administration has been caused. On the Washash railroad a water tank was operated by electricity, which was tended by a nearby farmer. He turned on the switch in the morning, went about his business, came back at 6 o'clock in the evening and turned it off. For this service for a few minutes each day he received about $20 a month. When the railroad administration took hold the wise men who classified employees rated the farmer as an electrician. They figured his time for the entire day and allowed him about $300 a month without requiring any additional work for him. Furthermore, he was given back payment amounting to between $2500 and $3000."

Ten minutes for work.

A LITTLE LIGHT ON THE

MATCH QUESTION

One of those persons who love to figure and then startle you with the results informs us that about 10,000 matches are scratched in this country every second, and of these 95 per cent are used by smokers to light pipes, cigars and cigarettes. He also estimates that the time lost by the smokers in lighting matches is worth $513,024 each eight-hour working day. He found this out by figuring that it takes fifteen seconds to scratch a match and use the light, and that 213,759 men, whose time is worth 60 cents an hour, are holding matches at the same time, thus losing golden minutes at the rate of $1,068 a minute, or $64,128 an hour.

WATER IS O. K. AGAIN.

According to the last analysis of city water, made by the State Bacteriologist at Lexington, the water was found to be perfectly safe for domestic and drinking purposes. Dr. J. A. Phelps, Health Officer, received this report by wire yesterday.

FOOD GOES UP

Kentuckians Standing a 94 Per Cent Advance of 1913.

Average expenditure for twenty-two food articles, such as are purchased by every family, cost 94 per cent more in Kentucky in 1919 than in 1913, according to data obtained at the Bureau of Labor.

The figures further show that these articles of food, which include lard, flour, cornmeal, eggs, butter, milk, bread, potatoes, sugar, cheese, rice, coffee, tea, and various kinds of meat, have continued to advance in Kentucky since the signing of the armistice the average increase last July over the same month of the previous year being 16 per cent. The articles increased 1 per cent during last June.

Kentucky's average increase in the price of these articles is about the same as the general average of principal cities of the United States. The least increase was in Los Angeles, which had an average price of 63 per cent and the greatest was in Detroit, which had an average increase of 104 per cent.

Meats, with the exception of pork products, showed a slight decrease for the month ending July 15. So did onions, cabbage, bananas and oranges. But oleomargarine, cheese and lard increased.

Nothing on the local market shows any indication of a decline in price; on the contrary, Hickman grocersmen predict even higher prices. This is also true of every line in human necessities. The pinnacle of high prices has not yet been reached—and no one knows when it will.

MORAL: DON'T BORROW.

A man who was too stingy to subscribe for his home paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by a neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and failing to notice the barb wire fence, ran into that, cutting a hole in his anatomy and ruining a $5 pair of trousers. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the corn field and killed herself eating corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran out, upset a 4-gallon churn of cream into a basket of little chickens, drowning the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a $35 set of false teeth. The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the milk into the parlor, ruining a brand-new $25 carpet. During the excitement the eldest daughter ran away with the hired man, and the dog broke up 11 setting hens and the calves got out and chewed the tails of four fine shirts on the clothes line.

The dry amendment carried in Kentucky by a safe majority, but in Ohio the wets won after a hard fight. The majority for the wets in Ohio is only 546.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

Oakwood church on Spring Hill Circuit had a great day Sunday, November 9, 1919. The occasion was the dedication of their beautiful church, and a large congregation of the best people of the country came together to enjoy the service of dedicating a house to the Lord.

Rev. W. C. Sellars, a former pastor of Clinton and also a former presiding elder of Paducah District, was the preacher for the occasion. He used a text Ephesians 5:23-32, and gave us a great sermon on the Church as the Bride of Christ.

The people of Oakwood with some outside help have done the handsome thing this year in a financial way. Having a membership of 100 they have paid into the Lord's treasury $3500.00—making $35 per capita.

This is a matter of supreme importance to everyone in these times of high prices. You could well afford to borrow money at the bank at 8 per cent to buy here; which would then give you a saving of fully 20 per cent over the old credit system. On the new plan, you are not made to pay for the fellow who doesn't pay. It is the safest way and best way to buy goods—every man's dollar is equal, as they should be.

Come to this store and let us show you the prettiest and best line of furniture, floor coverings, stoves, pianos, bedding, etc., to be found in Western Kentucky. No trouble to show you.

PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Jane Springs and Chas. Vineyard
Married at Jackson.

The following clipping from the Jackson (Tenn.) Sun will be of interest to many of our readers, as the bride, who is a niece of Mrs. A. H. Leet, attended school here and is well known among the younger set:

The McClish home on Poplar street was the scene of a very beautiful wedding last evening when Miss Jane Halbert Springs became the bride of Charles Shelby Vineyard, The Rev. J. W. Blackard of the First M. E. church at Dyersburg solemnizing the marriage in the presence of some 200 relatives and friends, using a beautiful ceremony and ring service. Dr. Blackard also said the marriage rites for the bride's parents 26 years ago.

Greatest care had been taken in decorating the reception suite; in the parlor where the bridal party stood a chandelier had been arranged about the mantel, the white panels intertwined with vines and the vine wreathed gates open at the foot of an improvised altar banked with ferns; the whitewashed mantel forming a background held baskets of white chrysanthemums with tulle bows, and candelabra with glowing white tapers. The dining room held vases and baskets of gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums, and the stairway in the big reception hall was particularly effective with white tulle tied baskets filled with white and gold chrysanthemums, and the stair rail draped with gauzy white.

It was a pretty picture as the bridal party filed down to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March to take their places where the chancel rail in the following order: The ribbon girls, Mary Thomas and Josephine Cole, like small fairies in ruffled white organdie frocks, drew the ribbon streamers from the foot of the stairs to the chancel gates. The bridesmaids, Miss Venie McClish in a lovely combination of pale green charmeuse, maline and silver lace; Mrs. Hugh Anderson in pale pink Georgette and crepe meteor trimmed in pink fringe and touches of gold; Miss Mamie Leet of Hickman, Ky., in ecil blue taffeta and Georgette with a bit of velvet and silver trimmings; Mrs. Clyde Thomas, matron of honor, and cousin of the bride, wearing a Frenchy yellow taffeta caught with clusters of flowers and gold trimmings. Each carried an arm bouquet of huge yellow chrysanthemums tied with white maline. Lorraine Wisdom, in a dainty hand-made frock of embroidered French mull and lace, was flower girl, carrying a white flower draper basket of rose petals, and preceded the bride who was on the arm of her uncle, W. N. McClish, and was a lovely bride in her robes of white brocaded charmeuse, silk bridal lace and Greek girdle of glistening silver. She carried a shower bouquet of Bride roses and valley lilies. They were met at the altar by the groom with his best man, Dr. Hal Baker of Henderson.

An informal reception followed the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Vineyard left for a two weeks' bridal tour which will include visits to Chicago, Indianapolis and St. Louis. They will be at home on their return with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bradford, North Royal street.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Earl Hawkins gave two beautiful songs, "Until" and "For You Alone." Mrs. R. N. Kelly presided at the piano.

In the upper reception hall was a lavish display of wedding gifts in beautiful and practical variety of cut glass, silver, linen, china, etc. Silk hosiery, toilet-water, a corsage pin and lingerie clasps made delightful bride's favors to her attendants.

OPEN GRATE FATAL

Mrs. Morris Waggoner met a horrible death when her dress caught fire from a grate. She ran into the yard and fell, dying in a few minutes. All her clothing and the hair of her head were burned off and her body was terribly burned. She was prominently known and a daughter of Tom Wadlington. Lee Tibbs, a neighbor, who was passing at the time, was badly burned in an attempt to extinguish the flames. The accident occurred near Wingo.

Prohibition may not prohibit—but it has served to cut the homicide rate in Fulton county from an average of one killing every two months to one a year, which is well worth what it costs. It has also eliminated the regular Saturday night fights, brawls, shootings and cutting scrapes. Ladies are even free to go along the streets on Saturday nights without being shocked by the vile profanity of drunken sots. The few fellows who "tank up" on ginger, paragon and lemon extract are not in sufficient numbers to "paint the own red," like the old Squirrel whisky heads used to do.

Theoretically the coal strike has been called off—but practically it is still on. According to the daily papers many manufacturing plants, schools, etc., in the South will be compelled to close down within another week. The situation at Hickman is not improving, as dealers are unable to half way meet the demand. Several cars that were enroute to this city have been confiscated by the railroads.

Information regarding the latest newsprint paper prices, reaching us yesterday, is staggering and threatens the life of the American publisher. The mills are asking 13c a pound for paper—which will make it cost the printer 18c a pound—or $360 a ton, whereas we used to buy it at $48 a ton. Obviously, a publisher cannot run his business without paper, and prices are out of reason and the supply short.

STATE TO SUPPLY BOOKS.

S. C. Ray, newly elected Representative from Grayson county, is going to make a fight in the General Assembly this winter for free textbooks for Kentucky school children. That was one of the principal planks in the platform on which he based his plea for support in the campaign, and now that he has won he proposes to make good. That he will have backing from legislators from other sections of the state there is little doubt.
